Do you know that your internet is stable?

- It could be that too many devices are using the internet. Video games, streaming TV, streaming video cameras can slow your internet. First stop the usage of the device, if that does not help then unplug the device.
- Maybe your modem needs to be rebooted. Unplug the power and the internet cable from modem, then wait 15 seconds and reconnect.
- Has the internet speed decreased? Contact your internet service provider to help you check and test the speed and connection.

Can you try a different computer or location to see if the problem persists?

- Try it on a different computer in your home.
- Try another internet location like a neighbor, relative, or friend.

Thank you for trying these things before reaching out to your instructor as faculty are not technology experts.
